"It's not how old you are, but how you are old." Marie Dressler

If there is one who grows more youthful as the years progress, then it is she. Her kindness, her humor, and her genuine interest in people have made her irreplaceable in the hearts of all who pass through the halls of KHS. She is always there--encouraging, sympathizing, sometimes scolding--but always caring. She enjoys life and she enjoys people. It is for this attitude toward life that we students will remember her. For she has instilled in us not only a love for books but a passion for life as well. So it is with sincerest gratitude that we express our thanks and dedicate the 1972 Jester to you.

The Class of '72 must believe in supreme rule, because for the third straight year they took top honors in the float contest. This victory only began a great weekend for seniors. The hard work of many people made the 1971 Homecoming proceed smoothly. To execute the theme "Colour My World," the seniors came up with a magnificent arrangement of multicolored streamers, which hung over the gym floor, and also decorated the stage. For the first time in Homecoming history the announcement of King and Queen was made on stage with all the candidates present. This dramatic moment produced Rich Fleisher as King and Michelle Bonnell as Queen of the 1971 Homecoming.

The Senior Class won top float honors for the third consecutive time with a float entitled "Pass our Colors to Victory."

The Sophomore Class float "Color 'Em Dead" won second place in float competition.

For the 1972 class of graduating seniors, their last year at KHS was a memorable one. They were busy making preparations for their futures, both immediate and distant. With Homecoming projects to set in gear and graduation to prepare for, the year seemed to fly by. By sponsoring dances and concessions and with successful Pancake Day and Chicken Noodle Dinner Day, the seniors obtained enough funds for their Senior Skip Day and for a gift to the school.

Juniors climax year of ambition and

This year has been one of ambition and excitement. The task of fulfilling their monetary quota for the Prom was not an easy one, but it was achieved through many tremendous endeavors. There were numerous money-making projects, such as the sale of mugs and frozen pizzas, but the utmost in comprising their treasury was the dance where "Tank" performed. All in all, this year will be unforgettable in the minds of our future seniors.

Juniors break from traditional banquet

The theme "Moonshadow" set the mood for romance as the couples take to the dance floor.

Danny seems to have his mind on other things besides dancing with Susan.

This was a year for changes and a break from tradition as far as the Junior-Senior Prom was concerned. The juniors dispensed with the traditional banquet, instead serving finger foods at the dance held at the Holiday Inn. Dress was formal, but music by the "Ivory Coast" lend itself better to a more casual type of dancing. Many were completely exhausted after the movie and the all-night bowling at Northgate Lanes. The seniors will cherish the memories for years and the juniors are already wondering what next year will be.

The excitement of the evening seems to have induced several juniors into a game of "Ring Around the Rosy."

Junior Class President Junior Carr and his date, Bonnie De-Moss, seem to be in a state of shock. Could it be something in the chicken salad?

and establish a new trend with "Moonshadow"

Everyone seemed to enjoy dancing to the music of "Ivory Coast."

During a "fast dance," it's hard to tell who is dancing with whom.

This year was a time of realization for the Class of '74. The task of working with the class as a whole and endeavoring to carry responsibilities of being upperclassmen was strenuous. However, they survived, looking forward to another year. Bravely, the upcoming juniors are facing the anxieties of planning next year's prom. To increase their financial status, the class worked hard by selling Blue Bullet stickers and light bulbs and by sponsoring a smorgasbord.

As the freshmen say, "To survive we must fight" and so they have. With a broom and the "smile" T-shirts, they fervently exercised their minds and bodies in a campaign to expedite their funds. Much of the freshmen's aggressiveness was constructively released during Homecoming. Countless hours of hard work were put into the float by these fanciful little cherubs. Their ambitions were also put to use when the "Class of '75" sponsored a work day, which was quite successful.

Workday increases Eighth Grade treasury

This, their last year in Junior High, was an eventful one for the Class of '76. Their series of events began with a very successful weiner roast and hayrack ride for the Seventh Graders. Of their monetary accomplishments, other than the fact that their funds were up to standards, their generous commodity was further enhanced by a work day in the spring and a pop bottle drive.

Knoxville gridgers endowed with little;

On the gridiron this year the Knoxville Varsity football team lived up to the expectations set forth by fellow students and fans by ending the season with an overall record of no wins and nine losses. Mainly responsible for this year's winless streak was the lack of seniors with a total of eight in September and terminating in November with only three active players. Although the majority of the time the team might have been outclassed by size and numbers, they managed to put up an excellent showing in the Alexis game by holding the Cards scoreless for three quarters. A fine effort was also noticeable in the Abingdon game with a half-time score of 0-7. The big offensive show of the year was the Monmouth game with a combined total of 66 points being scored. But perhaps the most impressive game of the fall season was played on September 17, the debut of the young Bullets, when they fought Cuba to a 15-21 loss for the best all-around effort of the year.

After the JV's had jumped off to a fast start with three big wins in a row, fate took its toll and also the starting quarterback, Jeff Jones, with a broken ankle. From that point on, it was four straight losses and a record of three wins and four losses. With one game remaining against a good Farmington team, the JV's regrouped and eeked out a two-point victory to raise their record to a respectable four wins and four losses. Because seven sophomores won varsity letters this year, it looks as if the Varsity will be "super-tough" next year.

Baby Bullets slip to undefeated season

With the coaching of John Rosene and Jim Pogue, this year's edition of the Baby Bullets slipped to stardom with an undefeated season and first place in the Little Four Conference. Cited as main cogs in the Baby Blue's machine were halfback Bob Knapp and lineman Dan Musselman. The Bullets had the knack of coming up with the big play, winning two games by two points each and tying a strong Aledo team for a near unblemished record. With an abundance of Seventh Grade lettermen returning next year, it looks as if football is back at KHS.

Lack of unity proves costly for Bullets

Expecting a very rewarding season this year, Coach Hise had many reasons for disappointment as his cagers finished with a record of 12 wins and 12 losses. This was one of Hise's worst records in many years of Varsity coaching. With only three returning lettermen, the team had to rely heavily on juniors and occasionally a sophomore or a reserve senior. Leading the squad in both spirit and ability was senior guard Kirk King. Rebounding and scoring honors also went to King as he finished a very fine high school career. Dan McKee also saw plenty of action as he held down the forward position with strong rebounding and an uncanny outside shot that hardly ever missed. At the other guard was senior Don Gardner, who, even though plagued with mono, had a fine effort whenever called upon. Also contributing much to this year's team were returning letterman Gary Clevenger, juniors Tom Thurman, Tim Myers, Greg Atwater, and J. D. Putnam, and sophomore Scott Howe.

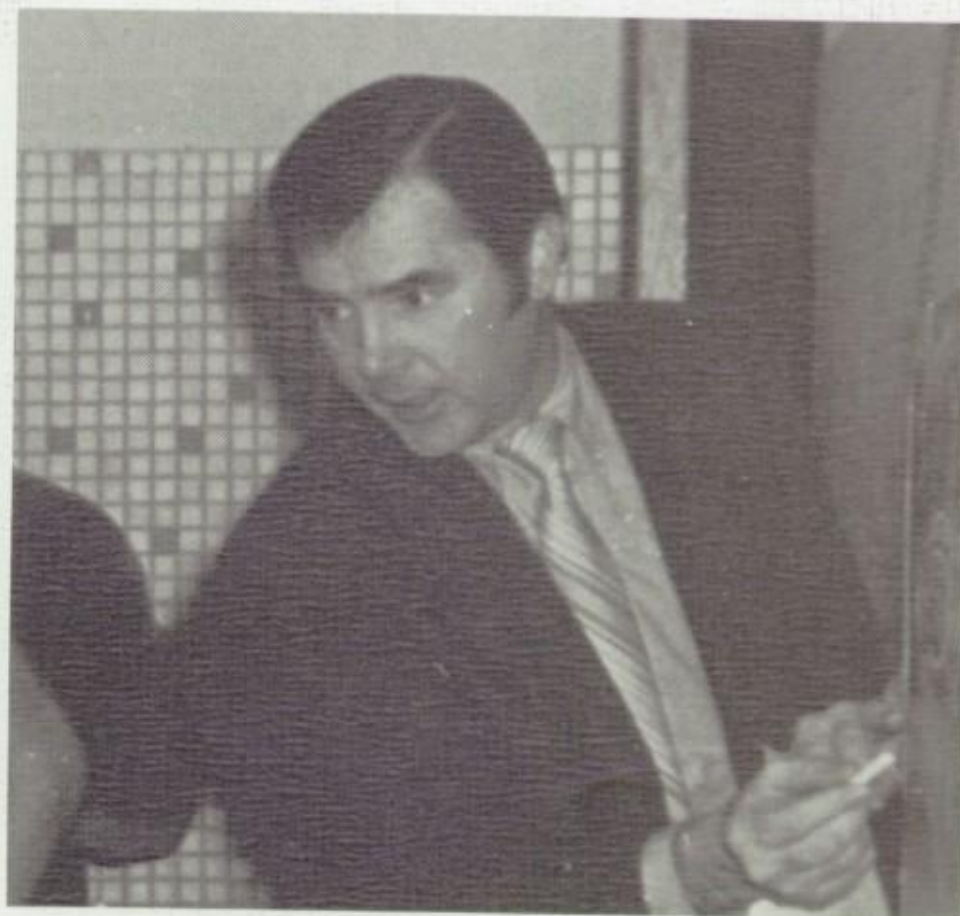

Two elements as pictured here made up a large portion of this year's team.

Kirk King puts up a sure two pointer over the out-stretched arm of a defender.

This year's track men of Knoxville again provided enough desire to win the Knox County Track Meet for the fifth time in the last seven years. With the whole meet hinging on the mile relay, the cindermen were able to overcome cold weather and mud puddles to pull through and win the meet by six points. This year's standouts were Seniors Keith Tessier (100) and Kevin Kennelly (mile run); Juniors Captain Tim Clewell (440), Junior Carr (disc), Danny Eiker (hurdles), and Tim Myers (high jump); Sophomores Scott Howe (relay teams) and Tony Smith (880). With the upcoming sophomores and juniors, Varsity Coach Ragsdale and JV Coach Fritz will possess much ability for years to come.

Jester Staff endeavors to capture

"I said the headlines were in my head, not in my hair," yells Ern.

Again the Jester Staff has endeavored to capture some of the highlights of another school year at KHS. To those of us on the staff, the book has a special meaning, because it will remind us not only of this past year of high school but also of the many hours of work we put into the 1972 Jester and the fun we had doing so. We hope that to you it will be significant also. Besides the regular staff there were many other people who helped to make this book possible, both directly and indirectly. And to you we say "thanks."

Michelle wrote so much copy that she developed a talent of being able to write with her eyes closed.

Things seemed to get worse for Rich as Picture Day wore on. In the end he felt the need to sit down in utter disgust.

"I know this is Wednesday, but I'm off schedule this week."

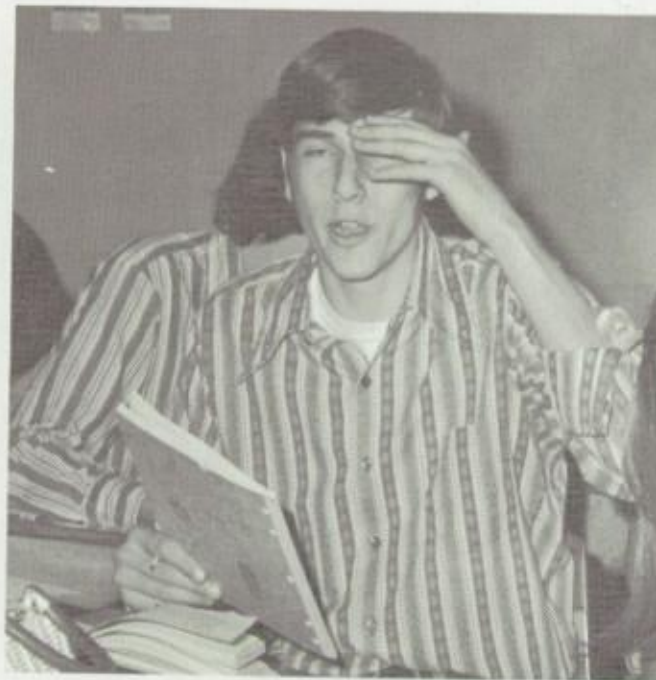

Advisor Miss Payne tries to explain to Michelle that "copy" does not mean word for word what was in last year's book.

NHS revises Induction Ceremonies

Because of limited funds and the honorary nature of the organization, the National Honor Society voted to change their traditional induction ceremonies this year. Instead of an all-school assembly and an evening banquet, they simplified the proceedings by holding a simple, yet elegant, evening candlelight induction, followed by the serving of coffee and cookies. The society members worked hard at embedding NHS Week into the hearts of their fellow students. They put up a display case and emblems for the lockers of Society members.

Staters prove themselves worthy citizens

Premier Boys and Girls State program is dedicated to the furtherance of producing good American citizens. Through the efforts of men and women in government, industry, and domestic life, who have experience and knowledge, ideas and guides that start as ripples and develop as waves for first-class citizenship are instilled into the minds of Boys and Girls Staters.

Under the able leadership of President Rich Fleisher, K Club members again this year worked to build the club's treasury in order that they might journey to St. Louis. Besides the candy machine sales, the guys sold stationery and washed cars as money-making projects. The club also arranged for an exhibition basketball game between the men faculty members and the Arkansas Lassies. Their year of hard work paid off, though, as the more adventurous members and sponsors weathered the trip to St. Louis in the spring.

Mr. John King
Principal

Mr. Taylor, new Superintendent of District 202, seems to find his duties quite challenging and rewarding.

Mr. King, although always busy with his duties as Principal of both the Junior and Senior High, finds time to help those having problems.

Special thanks and appreciation must be extended to the administrators of KHS. The best efforts of Mr. Taylor reflect the dedicated person that he has been. As athletic, musical, and social achievements were gained, so were academic goals reached. Mr. King, too, has done a tremendous job of guiding students and programs. His numerous jobs, many of which go unnoticed by the students, have helped to keep KHS at the top.

English, Speech, and Language Departments

"Go ahead and throw that eraser . . . I dare you!"

The English, Speech, and Language Departments, through a variety of courses, equipped the graduating seniors to meet the challenges of a vocation or those of an academic nature on a university campus. Again this year, the courses were less restrictive in nature and gave the students a chance to learn self-discipline.

Miss Goldie Gilbert
Art I, Art II

In an attempt to instill culture and an appreciation of the arts, Humanities and Art Classes took a day off from normal school routine and visited Bishop Hill, Knox College Fine Arts Center, and the Civic Arts Center. The students were exposed to art and culture, both old and new. In class, humanities concentrated on appreciation of the arts, while Miss Gilbert's students attempted to "culture" KHS by displays of their individual art works.

Social Studies in the Junior High prepares the students for a more advanced study during their high school years. Geography gives a sound background on all the major countries, their people, and their resources. History deals with a study of the United States from its first colonization to the present day.

"This isn't the same type of geography they taught when I was in school."

Each year Mr. Staggs takes his classes through the thrill and excitement of Eighth Grade History.

As the Class of '72 entered high school with anticipation and enthusiasm, so they left it, eyeing the future. The last week began with Senior Day at Lake Landuit. Class Day brought recognition to outstanding athletes, citizens, leaders, musicians, and scholars. Then came the cherished moment--graduation. As each left the Commencement exercises, there was the feeling that all was over, but it was also the beginning. It was the end of one stage of learning and the beginning of another.

Pam,
Remember all the fun we've had in band - just plain being ornery! Try 2 yrs. at K.H.S.!
Good luck!

Jori
Mike

Pam,
Well, it looks like we've known each other along time, and were still good friends! Wish you'd all the things I've told you, for you to remember.
Good in your life time
School! Love, Sandra

Pam,
Remember all the time we've the good band, and Mr.
had in I just always
I thought you're always Well, that way,
Keep. stay Clara
Cool.

Pam,
you help to make last year really great
I will always rem
Thanks a lot
Love
Joni

Pammy,

Ya know it seems like only yesterday that we were just startin' jr. High. Now we're juniors in high school. It's all goin' too fast. I'm gonna miss ya when we're out. You're an individual and that's what makes a person.

Stay sweet - & I wish you the very, very best of luck.

Thinking of you.

Pam,

I hope you always remembers all the fun we've had in the past at A.G.S. and K.H.S.

I know from the past and now the future holds a great deal for you in what ever you do.

I hope you never forget me, my mom's cooking or my old tree house and how on Halloween we chased the guys by Mary Jane's house.

Pammie Woo who...
How about all the fun in History? I've had a lot of fun with you, and hope to have more.
Friends,
"Stud"

Pam,
 Good luck in future years. Hope ya have fun the rest of your schooldays. Enjoy it while you can. It don't last forever.
 Heather

Pam,
 Good luck in your future yrs. at H.A.S. With you I'm sense of humor. I'm sure you'll go far.
 Have fun! Love,
 Caroline

Pam,
 You wrote alot in my letter, but you want to get much from me. Well, I've really had a great time in H.A.S. see you around this winter. Remember our talks and the never get in a fight like that again.
 Have fun at K.H.S. See ya around and keep track of Barb!!!
 Love, Pam,
 11-73

Pam,
 I hope you have a great time in H.A.S.
 Love,
 Heather

Hey, Hey
 about a real short Cam. Come visit me more often.
 Mike M.

"Gibson",
Good Luck — as maybe a Junior — some day you'll be a Senior — Oh well, thanks in typing
the good times in a riot
It was really a both with although we suck with who had suck whatever you Good Luck in do! look me are going to do! some up excitement — you want

As Always,
The Senior Woman
Jovella

Paromy.
Be good and stay as sweet as you are now. Let's have fun as Juniors, and make this year
something to remember.
Your personality will be good humor and always be remembered by many.
not only me but everyone that has ever had the pleasure of knowing you!
Love ya,
Beth
